

Tragedy At Rural School

Boiler Explodes,
One Child Killed,
At Least Sixteen
Others Injured

BARODA, Mich., Nov. 13.—(P)—One child was killed and at least 16 others injured today when a boiler explosion wrecked a section of a consolidated school at this little western Michigan fruit belt community.

Walter Ruppel, 13, died in a St. Joseph, Mich., hospital less than three hours after the blast ripped off one wall and the roof of the two-story building.

An estimated 280 pupils were in the building when the explosion occurred but the school superintendent said all have now been accounted for "as far as we can ascertain."

Twelve of the students were hospitalized with serious injuries, including crushed and fractured arms and legs, but none was reported in critical condition.

The explosion occurred while of the victims, 16-year-old Eldon Nitz, fired the basement boiler shortly before noon during the absence of the school janitor, his uncle, on a hunting trip.

The west wall of the two-story building was destroyed and the roof caved in on the seventh grade classroom where the victims were seated.

Eye Witness
Mrs. Frederick Williams, wife of a Congregational minister, said she was at work preparing lunch in the paragon across from the two-story school.

"I heard the explosion, which shook my home," she said. "Then a huge puff of smoke filled the whole school yard. Then I saw the west wall and the roof fall in. I heard children screaming and I ran across the street."

When the debris blocked her approach to the school, Mrs. Williams ran back to her home and gave the alarm to the telephone operator in Caroda.

Wrecking cars, fire apparatus and a fire engine converged on Baroda, a village of about 1,000 in the southwestern Michigan fruit belt, from nearby Benton Harbor, St. Joseph and Niles, Mich.

Twelve to Hospital
Twelve of the children taken from the debris and moved to hospitals, all seventh and eighth grade students, were: Thelma Schultz, Larry Barker, Josephine Kolberg, Dean Ott, Eldon Nitz, James Rode, James Brunke, Robert Prunkert, Frederick Schaller, Marilyn Nitz, Gerald Windfield and Alice Johns.

Their teacher, Mirka Spacek, escaped with minor injuries.

Four other students were in the basement at the time of the explosion and were treated for minor burns.

Although a number of the victims suffered from flash burns the building did not catch fire.

Nels Erickson, a telephone repairman, said he visited the scene and watched rescuers pull 17 children from the debris.

He said he knew of no deaths but that "several of the children were seriously injured."

Classrooms Demolished
The blast occurred in the basement of the two-story building, Erickson said, and blew out the roof and one side of the building. He said two classrooms, for fifth and sixth grade students and junior high school pupils, were "demolished."

Erickson said the school enrollment numbers "from 175 to 200" students but that the number in the two classrooms was probably "40 to 50."

The school has students from primary grades through the high school, Erickson added.

The explosion occurred about 11:30 a. m., he said.

An attendant at St. Joseph said "between 30 and 40" children were taken there. Many of them were treated only for shock and minor injuries, however.

Reported most seriously injured of those at St. Joseph was Alice Johns, whose age was not immediately available.

Urges Men to Hurry Applications
WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—(P)—Commodore William M. Ryan, fiscal director of the navy, appealed to former navy men today to hurry up with those applications for terminal leave pay.

"Something like 2,000,000 hadn't been heard of as of last Saturday, when the total received stood at 1,563,229."

Predominance of Turkeys
CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—(P)—Supplies of turkeys are expected to fill the Thanksgiving demand this year, M. C. Small, executive secretary of the Turkey Federation, predicted today.

He said there would be a predominance of large birds in the marketing, but that this need not deter homemakers in small families.

"There is about 50 per cent more meat on half of a 24-pound bird than on a whole 12-pound bird," Small noted.

Dress Manufacturers Want to Hold to Present Price Lines

By Dorothy Carew
NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—(P)—Clothing prices generally will remain at about their current levels unless there are sharp increases in fabric and labor costs, manufacturers indicated today.

A possible exception is in rayon goods where an immediate increase in yarn prices, estimated at about 12 percent, is expected to raise fabric costs from 15 to 25 percent.

Isador Agree, general manager of the National Dress Manufacturers association, said dress manufacturers want to hold to their present price lines as long as possible.

As evidence of this, he said, "spring openings began a week ago, and manufacturers now are taking orders on the basis of the prices established before decontrol."

He added that "many manufacturers have decided to absorb increased costs wherever possible."

Agree said an increase of 10 cents a yard in rayon fabric would have little effect on a dress designed to sell for $15 or more.

On the other hand, textile industry spokesmen said, freedom of pricing will mean "better quality fabric all along the line."

Educator is Speaker at Lions Meeting

Gives Practical
Talk on Schools;
Two Join Club

Christopher Jung, principal of the Warrensburg high school, was the guest speaker at the Sedalia Lions club at their noonday meeting today in the Ambassador room of the Hotel Bothwell.

Mr. Jung's subject was "Schools and Education."

In opening his talk he said, "Schools are just cold, straight business." He then covered various phases of schools, told of the veterans in school, and stated, "I can talk about this because I am a veteran. There are just too many veterans going to school, because it's an easy way of getting by on $90 a month. I do say there are many veterans who will benefit from this education, but there are a lot more who will 'flunk' out and go to work, and this type of education will not benefit them."

Adult Education
Mr. Jung also spoke on the field of adult education, training education on the job, and vocational training and teaching in the schools. He told how the business man, professional man and the schools should and can work together in this field of education.

He also spoke on the "teacher shortage" and explained why there are not enough teachers. In his talk, he complimented Sedalia in taking a step forward to meet and preparing for the future in it's recent bond issue for new schools.

Kenneth Buchholz, of the Texaco Oil Co., and Howard I. Lee, manager of the Bothwell hotel, were introduced as new members of Lions.

Ben Kropp, former member of the local Lions, now located in Chicago, Ill., was a guest of Noel Tweet. Mr. Kropp is in Sedalia on his vacation.

'Nick' Hunt Falls
Beneath Missouri
Pacific Train 15

"Nick" Hunt, Negro porter on Missouri Pacific passenger train No. 15, was instantly killed about 5:40 o'clock Tuesday night when he slipped and fell from a step on his body. Several cars passed over his body.

According to Conductor W. E. How, Kansas City, Mo., who was in charge of the train, Hunt had opened the vestibule and was on the steps when he approached. He said Hunt started to step aside to permit him to stand on the bottom step, as the train approached the station.

Conductor How said Hunt appeared to slip and then fell. Upon reaching the passenger depot, Conductor How notified the ticket agent who called local police and the started back through the yards to look for Hunt.

His body was found about 100 yards east of the yard office lying between the rails of the main line. The body was badly mangled.

Season's First Big Storm Near Los Angeles

Storm Warnings
Ordered Along
Pacific Coast

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 13.—(P)—One death and numerous injuries were blamed today on the season's first big storm, as heavy snows marooned scores on mountain roads, floodwaters closed highways and bridges and in some lowland areas threatened to lap out to houses.

More rain, with snow in the high reaches, was forecast throughout today.

After a few hours' light sprinkling during the night, the rain resumed with force today and the weather bureau ordered storm warnings continued along the Pacific coast from San Diego to Point Conception, north of Santa Barbara, predicting southeast winds "occasionally reaching 50 to 60 miles per hour."

Traffic Blocked
Traffic was blocked on heavily-traveled Laurel Canyon drive by a giant oak tree which toppled completely across it. Police and sheriff's officers tried manfully but unsuccessfully to untangle a snarl on the route, between Hollywood and the San Fernando valley, and called on street crew to saw up the giant. Many film stars have homes in the canyon.

Snow continued to fall in the mountains.

The normally-dry Los Angeles river, but of many a joke for its dryness, was roaring over two bridges near its mouth at Long Beach. There the spreading Hamilton bowl, a floodwater sink, overflowed and blocked the coast highway leading to San Diego.

North of Long Beach, in the farming communities of Norwalk, Hynes and Clearwater, muddy waters rose to within a few inches of some homes during the night, but appeared to be dropping early today. Acres of pasture land were under water and many garages flooded.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 13.—(P)—Winds of gale velocity raked coastal southern California today as heavy snowfall clogged communication lines through mountains in the interior.

A Western Airlines plane, carrying eight passengers and a crew of three was reported missing enroute from Salt Lake to Los Angeles, presumably in the snow-swept mountains as rainfall in the Los Angeles-Long Beach area swept perilously close to lowland homes.

Sixty-two children were evacuated from a trailer camp in north Long Beach by the Red Cross. Wind velocity at San Pedro, on Los Angeles harbor, climbed to 52 miles an hour.

Hundreds of trees were uprooted, streets and in some instances stores flooded, traffic slowed or stalled in a score of cities. Power and communications were disrupted in some instances.

Deep Snow In Mountains
Mountain snowfall ranged up to 26 inches at Big Pines. A party of motorists was marooned on rim of the world highway, above San Bernardino, between the resorts of Lake Arrowhead and Big Bear valley.

The rainfall slackened off after midnight, and flood control engineers said the millions of dollars spent on such projects as the Arroyo Seco spillway apparently had prevented any repetition of disastrous floods of past decades.

In Los Angeles 3.30 inches of rain fell between 2 a. m. Monday and 3 a. m. today and precipitation in other areas was proportionately heavy.

Returning Home

"Buster", setter dog owned by Frank Hugelman, 210 West Third street, who wandered away from "Hugie" and members of his hunting party in South Dakota last week, and was left behind after days had been spent searching for him, is now coming home. The dog was found by other hunters in the territory, who seeing a name and telephone number on its collar, wrote to E. P. Mullaley, Sedalia postmaster, asking him to locate the owner. "Hugie" has sent money to South Dakota for the dog's transportation home.

'Hugie's' Dog, Lost in South Dakota, Found

Sedalia Hunter
Happy to Receive
Good News Today

"Disappeared in one of those big cornfields, that's all I know," replied Frank Hugelman, 814 West Fourth street, in answer to the question as to how he had lost his hunting dog, a tan and white setter, while pheasant hunting a week ago last Sunday near New Holland, S. D.

Hugelman was hunting with his brother-in-law Irve Wallington of Houston, Texas; a nephew Dean Wallington of Los Angeles, Calif., and another nephew, Tommy Murdoch of Sedalia, when evidently the dog called "Buster" strayed off and became lost in a cornfield. The four men remained in the vicinity and searched vainly for the dog until the following Wednesday when they returned to Sedalia.

This morning a letter came to Edw. P. Mullaley, postmaster, addressed to the Postmaster of the City of Sedalia asking him to contact a man with the telephone number of 735. The man who wrote the letter was Dr. Charles Obermann, superintendent of the Cherokee state hospital at Cherokee, Iowa.

Tel. Number on Collar
Dr. Obermann went on to explain that he and a group of friends had found a dog with the name "Hugie" and the phone number 735, Sedalia, Mo., on the collar, while hunting near Ethan, almost seventy miles from the place where Hugelman had lost the dog.

Obermann took the dog to the home of a nearby farmer, L. J. Hohn, who lives four miles east and two miles south of Ethan, who agreed to take care of it for a reasonable length of time until its owner could be located.

Hugelman wrote a letter to Dr. Obermann expressing his appreciation for the time and trouble that he took to help locate the owner of the dog. He sent a reward to Mr. Hohn to reimburse him for taking care of the animal and also sent sufficient money to cover the cost of having it shipped back to Sedalia.

When one person commented that the doctor must be a pretty good sport, Hugelman exclaimed, "Must be." He's good enough for my money."

Army Vehicles Take Food to Storm Victims

Colorado has Worst Blizzard
In Many Years

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 13.—(P)—Army vehicles bucked huge snowdrifts today to get food to hundreds of families and thousands of head of livestock as Red Cross headquarters was set up to relieve the suffering caused by Southeastern Colorado's worst blizzard in years.

Planes stood by to fly hay to snowbound cattle and sheep which could not be reached by army "Weasels" trucks and bulldozers that plowed into drifts, some of them 10 to 18 feet high.

Fair skies were forecast for today's rescue efforts by the weather bureau, which reported a foot-deep blanket of snow over most of the area four days after snow stopped falling in the week-long blizzard which has claimed 15 lives.

The Red Cross established headquarters at Colorado Springs to coordinate relief activities.

Families Need Food
A seven-plane reconnaissance mission from Colorado Springs discovered many families in need of food and fuel in the Edison district, 50 miles southeast of there. Sightings of distress signal—X traced in the snow—William Hat landed and was told by a rancher of the district's plight.

Five C-47 army transport planes from Lowry field flew hay to a herd of 10,000 cattle reported "frozen in their tracks" in three feet of snow in Lincoln county. Another cargo plane dropped hay to starving antelope in that country. A private airline (United) put a plane at the disposal of the Red Cross for relief work.

Farther south, in the Pueblo area, 64 army trucks, seven "weasels" and three bulldozers from the Pueblo ordnance depot fanned out over the storm-swept country on mercy missions.

Use Army Vehicles
One "weasel"—a tracked army vehicle designed for snow travel—went 21 miles north of Boone to bring out two children of the Dhu Wright family reported ill with influenza. Hundreds of other stranded families were contacted as the "weasels" made a family-to-family sweep of the area.

One of the hardest-hit spots was Karval, a farm community of 30 families, where Lincoln County Agent John F. Jones said the snow was "40 inches deep on the level ground." A "weasel" set out from there today with Mrs. Dick Haynes, an expectant mother.

Although the weather bureau reported representative snow depths of 10 inches in La Junta, at Lamar and two at Pueblo, on the windswept plains, soil conservation agents reported depths of 36 inches west of La Junta and 70 inches south of Pueblo.

Crowley county agent said cattle losses in the Ordway area probably would not exceed three or four per cent, "but would have been much higher without this outside equipment."

More Trouble In Seoul
TOKYO, Nov. 13.—(P)—General MacArthur conferred today with two occupation hot spot commanders, Lt. Gen. John R. Hodge of southern Korea and Maj. Gen. George F. Moore of the Philippines.

MacArthur, plagued by Filipino coolaidts against GI behaviour in the Philippines, recently named Moore commander there.

Accept Sewer District
Sewer district No. 64, recently completed by contractor James Atkins, was accepted and authority given for the issuance of tax bills against property owners in the district for payment of same.

The safety ordinance, read for the first time at the last meeting, providing for the elimination of all fire hazards in public buildings, was read for the second time. On motion of John Taylor, seconded by Walter Smethers, further action on it was postponed, by the unanimous vote of the Council.

Ordinances were read for the first time providing for the sale, by Charles Gentry, trustee for the city, of Lot 3, in Westview addition to S. K. Mabry, for $75; for lot 2, block 9, in Westview addition to S. K. Mabry for $75. The ordinance will be acted on at the next meeting.

The resignation of Chris Rau, policeman, effective November 11, was read and accepted.

Alderman Ira Knox stated he wanted to explain his negative vote at the last meeting, on a resolution providing for the purchase of a street sweeper. He said he didn't know the resolution was to come up at the meeting, it hadn't been proven to him the machine would do the job, he had heard complaints on it, that he didn't know where the resolution came from and that in his opinion as chairman of the street and alley committee he should have known about it.

Cardinal Caccia Dominion Dies

ROME, Nov. 13—(P)—Camilli Cardinal Caccia Dominion, ranking cardinal in the order of Deacons died Monday night. He was 69.

His death, the sixth in the College of Cardinals in the last year, reduced the number of princes of the Roman Catholic church to 64. Cardinal Caccia Dominion suffered two heart attacks last week at his residence in the palace of the holy office and a special Papal benediction went to him as death approached. During the day many members of the college visited his bedside.

A native of Milan, Cardinal Caccia Dominion was ordained Sept. 23, 1899, and was raised to the purple by Pope Pius XI on Dec. 16, 1935.

He was assigned to the congregations of the consistory, the Eastern church, sacraments, ceremonies and St. Peter's establishment. He also was protector for some score religious orders and institutions.

Hospital Will Share In Estate

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 13—(P)—The Shriner's hospital for crippled children here and the School of the Ozarks at Point Lookout, Mo., in Taney county ultimately will share the half-million dollar estate of Harry L. Worman, the late chief operating officer of the Frisco railroad, it was disclosed Tuesday with the filing of his will.

Worman, who died last Friday, left his estate in trust for the benefit of his widow, Mrs. Lola Worman, with the provision that on her death it is to be divided equally between the two institutions.

The School of the Ozarks, founded in 1907 by the Missouri Synod of the Presbyterian church, provides high school training for boys and girls unable to obtain an education otherwise by enabling them to pay their way through work on the school farm. It has about 250 pupils.

E. P. Mullaley Heads County March o' Dimes

Campaign for Funds For Infantile Paralysis in January

E. P. Mullaley, Sedalia, has been named director of Pettis county for the 1947 March of Dimes to be conducted by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis Jan. 15 to 30, it was announced today by Robert T. Hensley, Missouri state chairman of the campaign.

In accepting the post, Mr. Mullaley pointed out that half of the funds collected in Pettis county will be retained here for use by the local chapter. The money will be used to pay for hospitalization of infantile paralysis victims, doctors' bills, nurse care, physical therapy and transportation to hospitals and clinics.

Have Reserve Fund
The remaining half of the money, he said, will go to the national foundation to build up a reserve fund for epidemic care and for grants in research to established institutions.

"The foundation's reserve fund," Mullaley declared, "was virtually wiped out in the serious infantile paralysis outbreak of 1946 in Missouri and throughout the nation. A total of $231,000 was sent by the national organization into Missouri this year to combat the disease."

Fifth in Number Victims
He points out that Missouri, with a total of 1197 cases up to October 31, ranked fifth in the nation in the number of victims this year. In a comparable period in 1946, he said, 196 cases were reported.

"This means," he said, "that the need for funds in the 1947 March of Dimes campaign is more urgent than ever before if the organization is to continue its splendid work in fighting one of mankind's most frightening diseases."

Petroleum production reached an all-time high in July, 1946, with a total output of 153,000,000 barrels. This figure exceeds any month's production during the war.

The Daily Washington Merry-go-Round

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—With Republican leaders gathering in the capital to begin organizing their own GOP-ruled congress for the first time in 16 years, here is a Merry-go-Round view of what the country can expect during the next two years:

Foreign policy — On the surface there will be no outward change. Later, however, important changes will become apparent. The British already are worried over our swing to the right.

Budget — The three largest expenditures of government are for Army-Navy, Veterans and service on the national debt. These can't be pruned — unless the Republicans want to cut down the Army and Navy, which they are not likely to do. Easiest pruning job, therefore, is on foreign loans and relief. UNRRA will be the first to go. A $200,000,000 loan to Italy, planned by Truman, will be ditched next. Other loans to European and Latin American countries will be axed.

This is where one change in foreign policy comes in. The Italian loan was planned in order to help struggling Italian democracy and prevent Italy's swing to Russian Communism. Midwest Republicans, many of them still privately isolationist, will veto this.

However, the end of several wartime expenditures such as price subsidies and service separation payments should permit balancing the budget.

Taxes — Despite current talk of tax relief for small wage-earners, there will be only minor tax cuts. One of two things will happen. Either expenditures will be such as to forbid major tax reduction. Or a cut will be made in the lower brackets, after which GOP congressmen, pressured by higher-bracket groups, won't be able to resist the temptation to get aboard the gravy train. If they add tax reduction for the higher brackets, it means that Truman will veto the bill.

Tariffs — Midwest Republicans would like to go back to the old Hoover high tariffs. Some of the eastern GOPers from manufacturing regions will go along with them. If they get going in earnest, however, there will be a stalemate. Truman will veto.

Labor — One Republican faction favors immediate and outright repeal of the entire Wagner act. However, they know this would bring a veto and that the veto probably would be sustained. Another GOP group wants to avoid antagonizing labor. Certain AFL leaders, especially John L. Lewis and Carpenters' boss Bill Hutchinson, helped them win the election, and they want to keep labor happy for 1948. Therefore, the following compromise is probable.

1. The Case bill will be passed once again, and this time will become law. Even if Truman vetoes, which is doubtful, southern Democrats and the strong GOP majority will be able to override the White House.

2. Senator Ball's bill, putting labor unions under the anti-trust laws, also will be adopted.

Immigration — Republicans are traditionally hostile to immigration and minority groups, and the house immigration committee now is inherited by Rep. Noah Mason of Illinois, well known witch hunter, who takes his cues from the Chicago Tribune. Displaced persons in Europe will get little comfort from Mason. A revived and stronger "Dies committee" can be expected — probably in both houses of congress.

Economic Outlook — Prices generally will rise during the next six months, though not so rapidly, and with some commodities such as food and textiles dropping in the winter. Food prices should slump after the Argentine and Australian crops are harvested in February. Clothing and furniture prices should come down soon, certainly after Christmas. Autos will remain scarce for some time.

Rent control will be dumped within about six months, though the Republicans will be too smart to repeal it outright. They will pass the buck back to the individual states, which will mean the virtual end of rent controls, since state legislatures are notoriously susceptible to real-estate lobbies.

That, in brief, is the future GOP congressional picture.

The Next War
 It escaped general attention, but Senator Tydings of Maryland beat Foreign Minister Molotov to the punch by proposing general world wide disarmament.

Those who noted Tydings' statement at first could hardly believe it. Tydings, with a good World War I record, has always been a big-Navy member of the naval affairs committee, is generally considered a staunch armaments senator.

However, Tydings served on the senate's atomic energy committee, where he had a chance to study close-up the results of atomic warfare.

Perhaps as a result, the Maryland senator recently made a significant speech before a group of veterans in which he pointed out that in past wars the United States always had been the arsenal of democracy. We manufactured the weapons of war, but always had been able to fight far from our own shores.

"But in the next war," explained Tydings, "there won't be any non-combatants."

And he went on to point out that atomic bomb plus long-range air power would bring the next war to the front door of every American citizen. First objective of the enemy would be to knock out our industrial machine.

That, he said, was why it was so all-important to prevent war. Tydings made one of the most effective pleas against war so far heard from any U. S. senator.

Sugar Daddy?
 Here is something the investigation-bent Republicans might look into:

For nearly two months, Robert Shields, chief of the agriculture department's production and marketing administration, has been hanging on to his job after announcing that he was resigning to become general counsel of the United States Beet Sugar association.

Mr. Shields' new job pays $40,000 a year, about four times his government salary, but though he announced September 23 that he was quitting the government, he has not done so.

Meanwhile the government finally has given a price increase to the beet-sugar growers. While this increase was due anyway, a lot of people are wondering whether Mr. Shields stayed on for so long at the agriculture department to make sure the price hike came through satisfactorily for his future employers.

Shields stayed on despite a vigorous request from field representatives of production and marketing that he get out of the agriculture department immediately.

Under the Dome
 The big brass of the navy department has been pleading with Adm. W. M. Miller, retired, now TWA vice president, to return to his old job as chief of public information. But it's no dice. Miller quit because of meddling advice from Vice Admiral Carpenter. . . . Death in office is the only thing that has ever removed a president of the United States while serving his term. Andrew Johnson escaped impeachment by one vote in 1868, but no president has ever resigned.

PARTY LINES and covered bridges

(An announcement on "The Telephone Hour," Bell System radio program.)

Years ago, the old covered bridge was a pretty familiar sight around the countryside.

And a lot of those old covered bridges were too narrow to allow two teams to pass abreast—so, if you saw a neighbor driving into the other end, you just "whoa'd" while he "giddapped." Then you'd cross over after he had cleared the bridge—and he'd do the same for you whenever he saw you first.

If you have a party-line telephone it's pretty much like that old covered bridge . . . and the same neighborly spirit of cooperation still prevails. A good party-line neighbor doesn't linger on the telephone "bridge" when you're waiting to cross over. He has his say as briefly as possible and then turns the line over to you. In the same manner, he doesn't try to crowd the telephone bridge while you are using it. He knows you'll complete your call as quickly as possible, and he's willing to wait until you are through.

And, of course, neither of you will hold up traffic by putting in several calls one right after another. You'll space your calls a few minutes apart to give your neighbor his chance at the line—and he'll show you the same consideration.

Movie Machine For Church

A projector machine with sound equipment has been installed this week in the Epworth Methodist church, Broadway and Engineer avenue. The machine is a modern one and up to the minute in every way.

It is the purpose of the church to use visual education in presenting its programs in evangelism, in missions and in education. Pictures will be frequently used on Sunday evenings also to supplement the regular evening worship services.

There is yet another reason, states the pastor, Rev. R. E. Hurd, for purchasing this equipment. It is the conviction of the pastor and official board of the church that they have a responsibility to furnish wholesome entertainment for the children, young people and adults of their constituency. To that end each Friday night has been set aside as "Entertainment Night." Beginning this Friday evening, November 15, at 7:30 p. m. a "feature" and enough shorts to make up an hour and a half program will be presented.

The public is welcome.

Clerks Will Transfer Records To District Office

The Price Control Board at Sedalia, serving the counties of Pettis, Saline and Benton closed November 4, and William E. Miller, chairman of the local board states today:

"This step marks the conclusion of almost five years of unprecedented patriotic service by the citizens of these counties who through their thousands of hours of volunteer work, have prevented inflationary dangers from taking effect and have seen that their neighbors had an equal right to their fair share of scarce commodities during the days of rationing," Mr. Miller said.

"Members of the Price Control Board stayed on the job for more than a year after the end of the war. Production has had a chance to catch up with demand. Now that about price control formerly handled by Price Control Boards should be addressed to the OPA District Office, 400 Mutual Building, Kansas City 6, Mo.

2. Certificates of transfer covering sales of used passenger automobiles may be obtained from principal auto dealers. Dealers should request additional supplies from the OPA Regional Mail Center at 3221 Commerce Street, Dallas, Texas.

Europeans do Not Want Another War

Those Countries Are Sick of War And War Talk

By Hal Boyle
NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—(AP)—America, to one returning after several years abroad, seems like a giant crippled by pygmy fears. Or, perhaps, like a schizophrenic lion in a field of mice, brooding over which one may grow and give him trouble.

The national temper, bold, resourceful and aggressive under the strain of war, appears to me to have deteriorated under the frictions of victory and uneasy peace.

There is lacking above all-balance, the long view and confident faith in the immediate future, a future better than the people of any other country can even dream of.

You get a feeling of widespread disillusion and personal insecurity, both largely unreasoned and baseless. These are the more striking to one just back from other lands, where America is still regarded by the common people as the beacon light to a secure world.

As one observer told me Switzerland:

"You people appear to have no real idea of your power and prestige created by the force of its arms in war and enlarged since by the huge gifts of food and clothing to distressed countries. There is, however, a real worry abroad that the United States, beset by internal problems, will again retire into its isolationist shell and forego further adventures in international political and financial philanthropy."

Coming home, one is amazed at the extent of the change in the American intelligent climate. Hope has been replaced by an unhappy, doubting distrust.

"I'm doing all right now," many friends have told me, "but I don't know what lies ahead."

More Selfish
This bothers them so much they don't enjoy the two-bit cigars they couldn't even afford to smoke five years ago.

Housing, food and clothing shortages appear to have made everybody individually a bit more selfish, put a brake on charitable impulses. The philosophy of "I'll get mine-let-the-next-guy-worry-about-himself" has galvanized many adherents. This is understandable among combat veterans, less justifiable on the part of others. This personal fear that "there may not be enough for me" is reflected in many ways. The housewife who for weeks can't find a cheap bar of soap to buy loses some of her sympathy for the dirty-eyed children of Europe.

"I want my kids' ears clean first," she thinks, and thereafter her views on proposals for world unity are colored by worry over whether they are just camouflage plots to grab her soap supply.

So it is with steaks and shoes and nylon stockings and new motor cars and everything else the world is short of. The sum of the individual selfishness can crystallize into a national desire to "keep what we've got" and let the rest of the world work out its own problems."

Another puzzling attitude to one freshly returned—an attitude, most often met in barrooms, is that—there "we should give Russia more muscle and less conversation."

This war talk would shock the average European right out of his bistro seat. There is considerable cynicism in Europe—as here—over the slow process of the United Nations. But there definitely is no desire to cease these efforts at peace, and most definitely no stomach for another war.

Most Americans would be greatly disillusioned if they expected Europe to join enthusiastically any program to "get really tough with Russia." Firmness—yes. But force—no. Europe is sick of war and war talk.

Nobody there wants to play with matches—yet.

Music Lovers Will Thrill to Hear Rubinoff

Music lovers of Sedalia will be thrilled when they hear Rubinoff and his violin Thursday night. Playing for the first time as a violin solo the brilliant and moving Warsaw Concerto. The Rubinoff arrangement of the plaintive "pocket concerto" brings a new warmth and depth of expression to this modern composition.

While the Rubinoff arrangement of the Warsaw Concerto sets the pace and keynotes the concert, the artist—favorite of millions since his widely heard broadcasts, moving picture appearances and concert tours—has unlimited scope in the list of popular compositions. Styled as a personal concert "in tune with the times" the Rubinoff appearance here at the Smith-Cotton high school auditorium brings a new level of general popularity to the concert stage.

Rubinoff will appear here Thursday afternoon at 3:15 for a special student matinee and again at 8:15 for the evening concert.

Tickets for Rubinoff concert are available at Shaw Music Co., Burkholders and Boies Drug Store. Tickets will also be on sale at the Smith-Cotton high school Thursday evening. Rubinoff is here under the sponsorship of the Sedalia Optimist club.

No Decision In Etchinson Lopez Match

Confusion In Main Event Causes The Decision Change

Everything seemed to go in the main event of Tuesday night's wrestling match between Vincent Lopez, Mexico City and Ronnie Etchinson, St. Joseph. However, the referee gave the final and winning fall to Lopez, but it was overruled by the Commission representative as a "no contest". The match roused the fighting fever among the fans at times resulting in near riots, but the Legion Auxiliary Police were on hand and had everything under control.

Etchinson claimed the fall, Lopez took the referee's decision. The referee was confused because of the hold Lopez had and thought Lopez had Etchinson pulled over his head with his shoulders touching. Everyone else figured Etchinson won, and consequently after talking with ringsiders the "no contest" rule was made.

Asked if he wanted to meet Lopez again and Etchinson readily said yes, while Lopez wasn't any too sure, but agreed later in the dressing room. They'll finish it out next Tuesday night, two falls out of three no-time limit.

Lopez won the first fall after choking Etchinson to submission and then body smothered him in 21 minutes. The second went to Etchinson using the Boston crab in four minutes and 20 seconds. The third period time was 13 minutes 15 seconds.

George Temple, brother of Shirley Temple, Los Angeles, California, won his match with George "Red" Ryan. In the first fall which went 11 minutes and 58 seconds, Ryan was disqualified. The second fall went to Ryan when he kicked Temple in the chin as the Californian came off the ropes in seven minutes 10 seconds. Temple coming off the ropes jumped into the air and kicked Ryan smack in the face and body smothered him for the fall in the final session in four minutes and 25 seconds.

The opening event was won by Ray Vilmer, St. Louis in nine minutes and 15 seconds who used the airplane spin on Calvin "Cal" Rees, St. Joseph, with success. After twirling Rees in the air he dropped him to the floor, body smothered to win.

The referee of the next week matches will be announced the last of the week. "Dick" Bishop remarked after the matches "I've had all I want of this kind of matches".

Cucumbers and green tomatoes are best pickled within 24 hours of picking.

Coach Faurot Has 'Learned With Dismay'

Sooners Have 'Shot' Movies of Missouri Sooners 'B' Game

By Skipper Patrick
KANSAS CITY, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Preparations for the Missouri-Oklahoma football battle Saturday at Norman, Okla., were off to a rousing beginning as word blew across the Big Six conference that the host team had a pictorial record of the Missouri's formations and plays.

Coach Don Faurot, who has Missouri at the top of the conference standing with three victories and no defeats, "learned with dismay" yesterday that an Oklahoma cameraman filmed the Armistice day Missouri-Oklahoma "B" team game at Muskogee, Oklahoma.

Big Jim Tatum of the Sooners doesn't expect any pregame advantage and when the Missouri telephone call came through asking about the "B" team film, Tatum not only confirmed the report, but promised to square the account by sending a copy of the film to Tigerland.

Some quarters were wondering, however, why either Faurot or Tatum would get excited over a motion picture of their "B" teams in action, even if they used identical plays of the varieties.

Tatum was Faurot's number one assistant during the war both at Iowa Pre-Flight and Jacksonville Navy. And more than once this season Tatum has declared he learned everything he knows about the "T" attack — employed by both teams — from Faurot.

But regardless of who taught who what, the real concern at each of the schools today was the condition of their team. Tatum listed eight players crippled as a result of the Sooners' hard-fought, losing clash with Kansas last week, including ace halfback Jim Golding.

Golding, who tops all the nation's leading ball carriers from major schools, suffers from a shoulder injury. Others on the Sooners' injury list include right end Warren Giese, tackle Wade Walker, back Jack Mitchell, tackle Bill Morris, end Jim Tyree, fullback Myrle Greathouse and back Charles Sarraf.

On the Missouri front, end Marshall Surman and tackles Bernie Pepper and Bob Stone were listed as ailing. Stone was hurt in the Colorado game last Saturday. Surman and Pepper have been lame for several weeks. In addition, three "B" teamers are battered up.

The Kansas Jayhawks and the Kansas State Wildcats, however, had nothing but good news as they pointed for Saturday's battle at Manhattan. Norman Rothlock, Kansas State freshman fullback, who was regarded as a real star until his injury against Hardin-Simmons, was back in the lineup.

Bill Hogan, Kansas quarterback and forward pass expert, appears to have recovered sufficiently from a broken leg to see some service for the Jayhawks. The Hawkers are counting on him being ready to go full blast against Missouri, Nov. 28.

At Lincoln, Neb., Coach Bernie Masterson announced five probable changes in the Nebraska lineup he will start against Iowa State Saturday. Tackle Vern Stiner, injured for several weeks, will be ready to take his turn. Wally Hopp will replace the injured Tom Novak at fullback; Fred Metheny replaces Sam Vacanti at quarter and Alex Cochran gets the end job previously held by Jack Pesek.

Penn Wants to Upset the Army
PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Pennsylvania Coach George Munger let it be known today that "we may have an upset" when his team meets Army Saturday in Philadelphia's football game of the year.

But, said Munger, there are two big "ifs" involved.

"... If the Army is not in the proper mental attitude and should make mistakes and if we should get the breaks."

And then the 34-year-old coach got down to points.

"The Army has one of the most dangerous passers in college ranks in Arnold Tucker but we also have a good pair — Bob Evans and Skipmy Minisi.

"Don't ask me to compare Doc Blanchard with our fullbacks but we are pretty deep there and Ed Allen and Bill Luongo can be counted on for a fine job."

"This game is a great opportunity for our players," said Munger. "Physically I think we will be at top form. We came out of the Columbia game in good shape. Frank Jenkins (one of the nation's finest ends), who hasn't played since the Navy game, is ready again and our backfield appears fit."

"Up front we have plenty of weight but Army's experienced. All in all it should be a terrific game. The boys want to win this one more than any other."

The game, a sellout for two months, will draw 78,000 to the Franklin field.

A Slim Advantage For M. U. Tigers

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 13.—(AP)—The defending champion Missouri Tigers, who put their title on the line against Oklahoma at Norman, Okla., Saturday, top the Big Six conference in total offense with an average of 276 yards rushing and passing in eight games.

The Oklahoma Sooners are second with 270 yards in seven games.

Missouri's slim advantage in the figures reported by the conference statistical bureau comes in forward passing where the Tigers have an average of 92 yards per game against 57 for Oklahoma. Oklahoma leads in rushing, 213 yards per game, with Missouri second at 184.

Iowa State's Cyclones, fifth in the standing, are tops in passing with an average of 96.5 yards in eight outings. Ron Norman, Iowa State, heads the passers with 29 completions on 70 flips for 923 yards. Ray Evans of Kansas has completed 12 out of 30 for 250 yards.

Otto Schnellbacher, Kansas end, took over the lead in pass receiving with two catches for 30 yards against Oklahoma last week. Schnellbacher has picked up 293 on 14 catches. Dean Laun of Iowa State has caught 20 for 282 yards.

Missouri-Arkansas In Semi-Pro Playoff
WICHITA, Kas., Nov. 13.—(AP)—Eight state champions — from Washington, Oregon, California, New York, Florida, Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas — will qualify direct to the 1947 national semi-pro baseball tournament here next August, the national baseball congress announced today.

Forty other states have been zoned for bi-state playoffs qualifying the winners to the national event, the congress added.

It previously had announced that the St. Joseph, Mich., Autos, 1946 champions, the Carmichael, Calif., Firemen, No. 2 team nationally and winner of the Canadian-U. S. series; the Hawaiian champions and the team winning the southern states Negro tournament will qualify direct to the national tournament.

State champions to be paired in the 20 bi-state playoffs include: Midwest — North Dakota-South Dakota; Iowa-Nebraska; Minnesota; Missouri-Arkansas; Illinois-Indiana and Michigan-Ohio.

Routine Hospital Tests
Check Disease

By William A. O'Brien, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

Most hospitals perform a number of clinical laboratory tests on every patient at the time of his admission. The American hospital Association, the U. S. Public Health Service and the National Tuberculosis Association recommend that an X-ray chest examination be conducted at the same time.

The purpose of these tests and X-ray examinations is to detect disease which is not discovered by physical examination. In some instances the condition is mild, while in others no symptoms of any kind are present.

The urine and blood are usually tested. The urine test may reveal the presence of albumin, sugar, blood, or pus. No examination of a hospital patient is considered complete without a urine test.

Blood Reveals Infection
The blood is tested for the amount of hemoglobin (red coloring matter), and the white cells are counted, for an increase in their number denotes probable infection.

Less commonly performed are counts of the red blood cells and examination under the microscope of stained smears of the red and white cells.

Some hospitals require that a blood test for syphilis be performed on all entering patients. Blood specimens are filed by number to avoid identification with any patient's name, thus avoiding embarrassment when syphilis is discovered.

A single positive test is not conclusive. Several tests must be

AND then, less than two weeks later, came the Japanese sneak attack on Pearl Harbor. When Gayle heard the news over the radio, the first shock of horror and fear seemed to stop the very beating of her heart. Nate was at Hawaii; Bart was there. Oh no, nothing could have happened to them. But the barracks—the radio said the barracks—maybe, though—maybe not the same barracks. They were officers. Maybe officers—oh, she didn't know; she didn't know anything about the Army.

Then a few weeks later she received word from home that Nate had survived the bombing of Pearl Harbor without even an injury; and the next day Mrs. Mays called her attention to a little squib in the newspaper. It stated that Mrs. Van Dyke Bartlett had learned that her son, Lieut. Bruce Bartlett, was safe and uninjured in Hawaii. Gale felt weak in her relief. Then she smiled. This was what a global war did to Bruce Van Dyke Bartlett; it reduced him to a small inch of type on an inside page.

In the succeeding months, Gayle's life followed an almost unvarying routine. She got up early, went to work with Barney and his sister, returned home, devoted herself to Kent, ate dinner, read the newspapers, listened to the radio, and then went to bed. Perhaps once a week she and Mrs. Mays went to a movie in Norwalk or Stamford. Then, secretly amused at the irony of the situation, she paid Barney 50 cents to stay with Kent. "Nobody," she told Mrs. Mays, "can say Kent is being neglected when he's guarded by Mrs. Bartlett's own detective."

Then one day early in June she opened the newspaper to glance at the headlines before she went to work. Her attention was more than half on Kent, who was expectedly telling her a story about his woolly toy dog.

She sat very still, staring blindly at the print before her but understanding no word of it.

Mrs. Mays came into the room with Kent's breakfast, and he dashed around the table to climb into his high chair.

"Come here," Gayle said to Mrs. Mays. "See this."

Mrs. Mays settled Kent, placed a bowl of hot cereal on the tray of his chair, and then stepped behind Gayle. Her eye followed Gayle's finger to a large picture of Bart. "Lieut. Bruce Bartlett," the caption read, "dead in the South Pacific."

Gayle read the story under the picture three times before her mind was capable of accepting the import of the words. Bart was dead—and a hero. He had risen with others of a small force of defending flyers to fight off a large number of attacking Japanese planes. He had downed six Japanese planes, all fighters, before he was sent plunging, his plane in flames, into the sea.

For more than a column Bart's history was recounted, the schools he had attended, the clubs he had belonged to, the football games he had starred in. Then came the last lines: "Lieutenant Bartlett is survived by his wife, the former Gayle Kent of Calvin, Ohio, his son, James Kent Bartlett, and his mother, widow of the famous manufacturer and financier, Van Dyke Bartlett."

His widow... "No," Gayle thought; "that's not right. I'm not his widow. I can't be. It's not right. I wasn't his wife any more. I can't be his widow."

"I can't believe it," Mrs. Mays whispered. "I can't believe it."

THE day through Gayle tried to realize that Bart was dead, that he had died in a plane of fire in the sea, but no matter how many times she repeated the words to herself, they had no meaning. Bruce Bartlett could not be dead. Somewhere that magnificent body of his was as vibrant with life as it had always been.

Even the repetition of the story in the evening papers did not give it meaning to her. One paper had half a dozen pictures of Bart, including a baby picture, a picture of him in football togs, one standing by the plane he had owned as a civilian, one in his uniform, one of him as a prep school boy, and one in his cap and gown at Yale. It seemed as if the papers were determined to print every detail of his life, and each emphasized the glory of his untimely end. "Six Zeros," an editorial said. "Who could have a nobler epitaph?"

At 8 o'clock Mr. Godfrey telephoned. "I'm afraid you'll have to vanish for a while, Gayle," he said. "You can hide in my house if you want to."

"Hide? Why? I don't want to hide. I'm terribly sorry about Bart, Mr. Godfrey; I am truly. But why should I hide?"

"The reporters, I'm afraid they'll give you a bad time of it. I don't think they know where I am, Mr. Godfrey. Nobody around here knows I was Bart's wife."

"Octavia knows," Gayle laughed. "But she won't tell. She'll never tell. I feel sorry for her. I know she's heartbroken. But I know her, too. She isn't going to surrender the spotlight to me, not Mrs. Bartlett. She'll never let me tell reporters I'm going to divorce Bart. She'll be the last to tell them where I am."

And no reporters did trouble Gayle. True, twice she noted statements that the present whereabouts of Mrs. Bartlett had not been ascertained, but she refused to let the suggestion of search in the statements trouble her. A girl at the plant asked her if she was related to Bruce Bartlett, and she replied truthfully, "Just by marriage." She saw the girl whispering to a neighbor, and she suspected that a single evasion had quieted the curiosity at the plant.
